

My Creator, for such a list would be too exhaustive to undertake and possibly construed by others to be a definitive list of My rights, which are indescribable, boundless, and beyond the comprehension of artificial constructs.

It is My belief and understanding that the man-made artifice known as "government", once served a purpose in effecting a consenting People's desire for the mutual protection of life, liberty, and property. It is My belief that government is an anachronistic relic of a time where circumstances induced people to trade Natural Rights for privileges and benefits derived from the Civil Power. It is My belief that a pattern exists where government no longer operates under the intended desire of consenting People for the mutual protection of life, liberty, and property, but has deviated to a course of abuse, violence, theft, deceit, fraud, and coercion; operating to the detriment of those who choose to not consent, and to the benefit of those who seek out government as a proxy for effecting the pursuit and furtherance of various self-interests.

I believe the ONLY legitimate function of government, of any kind, to be for the mutual benefit of those explicitly forming such government and submitting to its jurisdiction for the sole purpose of protecting life, liberty, and property. Any other action undertaken in the name of ANY government that is inconsistent with the aforesaid concepts is unjust, unlawful, repugnant, and non-binding upon any Sovereign man or woman.

I believe that government is NOT sovereign; that sovereignty begins with the Creator; is bestowed to those he creates; and cannot be surrendered, waived, transferred, or assigned to any unnatural entity that may then possess sovereignty superior or equal to that which created it. Therefore, it is NOT possible for government to claim the status of a sovereign as compared to that of the People who choose to create such government.

I recognize and understand that government has organized and mobilized a force comprised of individuals who are armed, trained, and presumably empowered with "authority" to enforce laws, edicts, proclamations, rules, ordinances, and regulations in the name of "public safety", "national security", "common good", "police power", and other contrivances used to placate people into accepting an armed, standing presence designed to compel obedience and compliance. I recognize and understand that those individuals comprising this force are morally bound, obligated, and reasonable in adhering to the laws of nature and respecting the sovereignty of others. They are assumed to be reasonable and responsible for their individual actions. I therefore assume that any action taken upon them, against My life, liberty, or property, is purposeful, intentional, and deliberate. I will deem any action taken by them, against My life, liberty, or property, to be an act of war. I will defend with force to whatever degree and with any means at My disposal, and to whatever consequence possible, My life, liberty, and property against any and all actors exercising such force.

I do not believe that I am a U.S. citizen, a citizen of the United States, a statutory resident, a statutory person, a taxpayer, or any other creature, fiction, subject, or definition found in statutes, codes, ordinances, or anywhere else that does not recognize a natural, free-born man.
